Section 1 Principles

The University of Leeds is a research-intensive institution which creates, advances and disseminates knowledge. Our aim is to develop outstanding graduates and scholars who can make a major impact upon global society.

The University is shaped by the values of academic excellence, community, professionalism, integrity and inclusiveness. The setting of high admissions standards plays a key role in maintaining academic excellence.

The University of Leeds is committed to providing a professional admissions service through clear, fair and consistently applied policies and procedures. The University aims to provide fair and equal access to all prospective students who have the potential to benefit from and contribute to academic life at a research-intensive university.

The University recognises that, in order to provide fair and equal access to all prospective students, it may need to demonstrate a flexible approach and, where appropriate make adjustments for individual applicants - for example, disabled applicants or applicants who have faced exceptional circumstances.

Our policies and practice are driven by our belief that the life of the University is enriched by having a body of students which reflects the community at large and includes students from all parts of the UK, from other EU countries and from further overseas.

Section 2 Context

The University's admissions policies are consistent with the Quality Assurance Agency's Code of Practice, Chapter B2 on Recruitment selection and admission to higher education and comply with current equality laws affecting the admission of students.

Admissions policies and practices are also guided by the principles articulated within the Schwartz Report of the Admissions to Higher Education Steering Group 2004 (available at <http://www.admissions-review.org.uk/>)

Section 3 Governance

3.1 Role of the Recruitment Committee

Taught Admissions policies at the University of Leeds are overseen by the University Recruitment Committee. The Committee's terms of reference are to:

- To monitor the quality of Undergraduate and Taught Postgraduate, Home/EU and International student admissions and recruitment in the University, ensuring integrity and alignment of processes with the University's strategic aims, reporting to the Portfolio Steering Group;
- To promote fairness, inclusion, consistency and transparency in the University's recruitment and admissions practices;
- To formulate University policies, regulations and procedures for the admission of both Home/EU and International students to Undergraduate

UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS
2017 Taught Postgraduate Admissions Policy

and Taught Postgraduate awards in response to internal and external initiatives and to oversee the implementation and effectiveness of these;

- To monitor compliance in relation to the University Admissions Policy, relevant University Quality Assurance statements and external Codes of Practice;
- To oversee the University's outreach and widening participation strategy;
- To monitor and review the University's performance in relation to the Access Agreement;
- To oversee and measure the success of the University's recruitment and admissions process against key performance indicators;
- To receive from central services and/or faculty recruitment committees/working groups recommendations about admissions and recruitment issues which require cross-faculty or University-wide action, to advise on appropriate action, and to make relevant recommendations to Taught Student Education Board;
- To promote the dissemination of best practice in recruitment and admissions across the University, to identify development and training needs for admissions staff and to ensure that these needs are met;

3.2 Role of the Student Education Service

Admissions decisions at the University of Leeds are ultimately made by Academic Schools and/or Faculties. The Student Education Service (SES) is responsible for managing the admissions procedures in line with the University's admissions policies, providing support, training and advice to its staff, enquirers and applicants.

3.3 Guidance for Admissions Staff

All members of staff with responsibility for the admissions process are given appropriate guidance in order to fulfil their roles competently and in line with this policy. Structured guidance is given in light of any national or institutional changes to admissions policy or procedures and ongoing counsel is provided to all admissions staff in the Student Education Service.

3.4 Transparency

The University is committed to providing accurate and clear communication of information that will support students to make an informed decision about their course. The University requires Academic Schools to publish guideline entry requirements for all taught postgraduate programmes in all relevant communications, for example the University of Leeds Taught Postgraduate Prospectus. Additionally the University requires Academic Schools to publish local level admissions policies, which support this main University policy and provide applicants with more detailed information about programme specific selection criteria and processes.

3.5 Consistency

In order to ensure consistency and fairness, the general principles and procedures set out in this policy are followed by all Academic Schools. The University acknowledges that admissions processes will vary to some extent across subject areas depending on the nature of the programme. Any variations in process will be detailed in School Admissions Policies.

UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS
2017 Taught Postgraduate Admissions Policy

3.6 Monitoring

This policy is reviewed annually by the University Recruitment Committee and, where appropriate, policies and procedures for the admission of students to taught postgraduate programmes may be revised in line with changes to the internal and external admissions environment.

The admissions policy and practice of Academic Schools is reviewed annually by Faculty Committees who will make recommendations to the University of Leeds Recruitment Committee for approval.

Section 4 Admissions Requirements

4.1 Selection principles

The University of Leeds operates a fair and equitable selection process ensuring due consideration is given to all applicants who apply by the relevant closing date. Achievement or predicted achievement of the required qualifications does not necessarily guarantee an offer of a place. All selection decisions are made on the basis of merit which may include academic and non-academic criteria for admission to the relevant programme of study.

The selection criteria must treat all students fairly and equally, and not discriminate unlawfully because of their age; disability; gender; gender identity; pregnancy or maternity status; race; religion or belief; or sexual orientation.

The admissions process is covered by the University's Policy on Equality and Inclusion which is available from the University's Equality Policy Unit at www.equality.leeds.ac.uk/university-policies-2/.

4.2 General entrance requirements

Applications are assessed by admissions staff on the basis of information provided on the application form. All applicants are assessed as individuals and are given fair and equal opportunity to demonstrate relevant skills and provide supporting information where required. In some cases the selection process may include other steps for example interviews, auditions or the submission of supplementary work in addition to the information provided on the application form. The criteria for assessment vary across different programmes and full details will be provided in the relevant School Admissions Policy. Academic and non-academic entrance requirements are reviewed annually in line with the University's aim to provide fair and equal access to all prospective students who have the potential to benefit from and contribute to a quality education on their chosen programme. Academic Schools, their Admissions Tutors and administrators should consider exercising flexibility where appropriate in response to individual applicants requesting adjustments to assessment methods.

Any unsupported or inaccurate claims within an application may invalidate the application and may lead to the applicant being rejected.

UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS
2017 Taught Postgraduate Admissions Policy

In order to comply with the requirements of relevant professional bodies, applicants to certain vocational or professional courses may be required to pass checks by the Disclosure and Barring Service (formerly a Criminal Records Bureau check), or to demonstrate medical fitness to practise prior to being admitted. Applicants will be advised if these or any other conditions apply when they are made an offer of a place.

4.3 Qualifications

Applicants to taught postgraduate programmes should normally have a good first honours degree of at least a UK upper second class or equivalent. Criteria for entry to individual programmes of study may be higher and applicants are advised to check the relevant Academic School prior to making an application. Exceptions to this academic requirement for some programmes may be made when applicants can demonstrate significant relevant work experience and their potential for benefiting from the programme is clear. Applicants who are uncertain about the requirements for a particular taught postgraduate programme are advised to contact the University prior to making an application. The contact details for application enquiries can be found in section 7 of this document.

4.4 English language requirements

Teaching, assessment and student support will take place in English, unless otherwise stated. Schools must be confident that candidates have the proficiency in English language necessary to succeed on the chosen programme of study.

Applicants for whom English is not their first language may require an English language qualification to gain entry to the University of Leeds and will be made an offer which is conditional on successful completion of one of the approved tests, or a combined offer for one of the University of Leeds pre-session English Language courses and their chosen Taught Postgraduate programme, as an alternative route to meeting the English Language requirement. A list of applicants who are not required to undertake further English language tests can be found in Appendix A, Section 1. A list of acceptable language qualifications and the minimum pass level required are detailed in Appendix A, Section 2. It should be noted that some schools, faculties or programmes specify higher requirements than the University minimum. Please note that for applicants submitting applications for programmes with an English language requirement that is higher than the University minimum, the applicant may be required to undertake an English language test to meet the requirement and the list shown in Appendix A, Section 1 is not applicable.

Any offer made that is conditional on an English Language requirement will be subject to provision of documentary evidence that the required standard has been met. Applicants who have already taken an English Language qualification should enclose a copy of their test score with their application.

Where an applicant does not meet the English language requirements for the academic course, but does meet the requirements for the University of Leeds pre-session English Language summer courses, they may be eligible for a combined offer for the pre-session and Taught Postgraduate programme. Applicants will be informed via their offer letter if they are eligible for a combined offer, for which they will need to opt in. Applicants with a combined offer needing a CAS will receive a single CAS for the duration of their studies. Applicants must attend the pre-session course in order to progress onto the Taught Postgraduate programme. Failure to do so will result in the applicant being unable to join the Taught Postgraduate programme. Applicants can opt out of this route in favour of meeting the English Language requirement by completing one of the English Language tests detailed in Appendix A, Section 2, by declining the offer and contacting tp_applications@leeds.ac.uk.

2017 Taught Postgraduate Admissions Policy

Even students with high language scores can find they need additional language support before and during their degree studies at the University of Leeds. The Language Centre offers a range of classes throughout the year, including pre-sessional intensive English courses for academic purposes from July to September. Details of programmes and contact details for the Language Centre can be found on our website at: http://www.leeds.ac.uk/arts/info/125008/english_language

Where an applicant has already satisfied the English language requirements and subsequently provides further evidence that falls below the University's or the UKVI's entry requirements, the offer must be revised as follows:

- An unconditional offer, made on the understanding that English language proficiency was met, will be changed to conditional upon evidence of a level of at least UKVI minimum of CEFR Level B2. For example, an IELTS test with an overall score of 6.5 taken in 2014 would be overridden by an IELTS test with an overall score of 5.0 taken in 2015, making the offer conditional on English.
- An offer which would normally not need additional evidence of English language proficiency, due to having met this requirement using alternative qualifications, will be made conditional on English if the most recent evidence provided is below CEFR Level B2. For example, an Indian XII or a Bachelor degree from Nigeria taken in 2009 would be overridden by an IELTS test with an overall score of 5.0 taken in 2015, making the offer conditional on English.
- Where more recent evidence is provided which does not meet the English entry requirements for the programme, but exceeds the UKVI minimum of CEFR Level B2, it is at the discretion of the Academic School whether an English condition should be made.

4.5 Applicants who have non-UK qualifications

Admissions staff have experience in considering a wide range of international qualifications against the University's entry requirements. Information for international applicants can be found on the University of Leeds website at <http://www.leeds.ac.uk/international>.

Prospective applicants who wish to discuss whether their qualifications will meet the University's entry criteria should contact the Admissions Enquiries Office (see section 7). The University works with a network of representatives across the globe who can give informed advice on all matters relating to life in Leeds and applicants and enquirers may be referred to one of the University's regional offices.

4.6 Part -time study

Applicants who wish to study on a part-time basis should contact the Academic School to check on part-time options prior to making an application. Overseas

UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS
2017 Taught Postgraduate Admissions Policy

applicants and applicants from non-EU countries should note that student visa regulations will not normally allow study on a part-time basis.

4.7 Widening Participation

We are committed to identifying all applicants who have the potential to succeed at the University of Leeds. The University offers a range of financial support to academically able students from less affluent backgrounds to ensure they are not deterred from progressing to taught postgraduate study because of financial reasons. Support from us does not have to be repaid. Further details can be found on our website at http://www.leeds.ac.uk/info/101050/fees_and_scholarships/109/postgraduate_scholarships

4.8 Fees and Financial Support

Eligible UK or EU students, whether full-time or part-time, will be able to apply for a loan to help towards the cost of tuition fees and living costs. It is a maximum of £10,000 and eligibility is outlined at <https://www.gov.uk/career-development-loans/overview>.

In addition, the University is committed to ensuring that finance is not a barrier. The University of Leeds currently offers a wide range of scholarships and bursaries that provide funding for students to undertake undergraduate study at the University. Further details can be found on our website at

http://www.leeds.ac.uk/info/101050/fees_and_scholarships/109/postgraduate_scholarships

All students are expected to have made arrangements to meet the tuition fee payment requirements before accepting their offer. For information about tuition fee payment options please visit http://students.leeds.ac.uk/info/10210/paying_fees_and_charges/604/tuition_fees

4.9 Advanced Entry

Accreditation of prior learning is a process undertaken by the University in order to assess and, as appropriate, recognise prior experiential learning or prior certificated learning for academic purposes. This recognition may give the learning a credit value and allow it to be counted towards the completion of a programme of study. Credit Transfer is the process by which the University accepts credit arising from prior certificated learning, either awarded by itself or another institution, as contributing to an award of the University.

Any decision on credit transfer or entry of students with advanced standing is an academic decision taken within the relevant School. Applicants are advised to check the relevant School Admissions Policy for further information.

4.10 Age and Safeguarding

The University recognises someone's young age (if under 18) or safeguarding position may need to be taken into account. For full details of the University policy please see http://www.leeds.ac.uk/secretariat/documents/safeguarding_policy.pdf.

4.11 Disabled applicants

The University welcomes applications from disabled people.¹ The University will make reasonable adjustments to help ensure that disabled applicants have full and equal access to our admissions procedures and courses. Information about disability is not used when considering your academic eligibility for your chosen programme of study. It is reviewed in order to identify your potential study-related support requirements, and your eligibility for disability-related support funding, so that the University can ensure you are supported effectively on your course.

The University will always aim to make appropriate adjustments for disabled applicants. However, applicants who choose not to disclose their disability should be aware that it may be more difficult, or in rare cases impossible, to make the appropriate adjustments. Applicants are invited to indicate their disability status on their application form and we strongly encourage applicants to disclose any disability. Disabled applicants are also advised to contact the University's Disabled Students Assessment and Support team (part of the University's Student Education Service) once an application has been submitted, to discuss any support requirements they may have in relation to the programme for which they have applied. Disabled Students Assessment and Support can be contacted at disability@leeds.ac.uk.

If any candidate feels that their disability has meant that they faced exceptional circumstances which should be taken into account by the University when considering their application, they should refer to section 4.14 below.

The admissions process is covered by the University's Policy on Equality and Inclusion which is available from the University's Equality Policy Unit at <http://www.equality.leeds.ac.uk/university-policies-2/>.

4.12 Applicants with a health-related issue

This section deals with health-related issues,² which are distinct from disability-related issues. Applicants with a health-related issue should contact the relevant Academic School as soon as possible if their health is likely to impact on their ability to engage with the admissions process. The University aims to be flexible in such circumstances and to take such issues into account. Offers made to some programmes such as Dentistry and Medicine are conditional upon a satisfactory medical examination to be undertaken before the commencement of studies. Applicants will be advised if these or any other conditions apply when they are made an offer of a place.

If any candidate feels that their prior ill health has meant that they faced exceptional circumstances which should be taken into account by the University when considering their application, they should refer to section 4.14 below.

¹The University is committed to the social model of disability and in line with the definition under the Equality Act 2010 defines a disabled person as someone with a physical or mental impairment which is long-term (lasting 12 months or more) and which has a substantial impact on that person's ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities. The definition of disability includes long-term medical conditions such as cancer (from the point of diagnosis), epilepsy, diabetes, Chronic Fatigue Syndrome/ME and HIV/AIDS amongst others.

² Which are not classed as a "disability".

4.13 Support for applicants who are pregnant

In line with the University policy on support for students who are pregnant or have young children (available from <http://www.equality.leeds.ac.uk/university-policies-2/>), applicants who are pregnant are advised to inform their Admissions Tutor/Officer at an early stage. This is so that consideration can be given to appropriate support being available from the start of their programme of study.

4.14 Applicants who have faced exceptional circumstances

If any candidate feels that any disability, prior ill-health – or other personal circumstance (for example, bereavement, or other difficult home or family circumstances) – may have affected their previous education, or grades received in past examinations, then they are welcome to contact the relevant School to discuss this further. All formal requests for mitigating circumstances which are supported by a full declaration about the nature of the circumstances will be taken into account in the admissions process.

Where those circumstances are affecting, or have affected, current studies the correct course of action should be to notify the relevant exam board of those circumstances. Whilst you are welcome to notify (via a verified statement) the relevant admissions office of the circumstances, the University will assume that the relevant exam board will take the circumstances into consideration and any mitigating circumstances have been taken into account in the final grades. These final grades are what will be used when making a decision.

4.15 Applicants wishing to defer

The University of Leeds considers a deferred applicant as one who currently holds an offer but wishes to change the year of entry to the following academic year, or one who applies for the following academic year from the outset. Applicants who wish to defer an offer of a place to the following academic year should contact the relevant Academic School. Deferral of a place to study is at the discretion of the Academic School and is strictly limited to a maximum of one academic year following the year of initial application. Applicants who request deferral for more than one academic year will normally be required to reapply. Except where a 2 year time limit is placed on an English Language qualification, any offer made will not be subject to change.

4.16 Applicants wishing to reapply

Any decision on the eligibility of applicants who have previously held an offer of a place but failed to achieve the academic conditions at first attempt will be an academic judgement. Such candidates should be aware that no guarantee can be given that another offer will be made, and that the conditions of any future offer may differ to those of the original.

4.17 Criminal convictions

The University has a policy statement on students with criminal records at http://www.leeds.ac.uk/secretariat/documents/applicants_students_criminal_record.pdf. This policy includes applicants seeking admission. It should be noted that if an applicant is required to disclose a criminal offence and fails to do so this will generally be considered a very serious matter and is likely to lead to their application being rejected or, if admitted, to their registration at the University being revoked.

Having a prior criminal record will not necessarily prevent an applicant from being offered a place; this may depend, for example, on the nature, timing and relevance of the criminal offence in question. The University may request further information about the nature or context of an applicant's criminal record.

Where indicated in the prospectus or on the University's website, specific programmes may involve regular access to children and/or vulnerable adults, and applicants may be required to undertake with satisfactory results, certain checks with the Disclosure and Barring Service. The University will send further instructions as part of the admissions process where this is the case.

Section 5 Admissions processes

5.1 Applications

Applicants to taught postgraduate programmes are encouraged to apply online at <http://www.leeds.ac.uk/students/apply.htm>.

5.2 Application deadlines

Applicants are encouraged to apply as early as possible for taught postgraduate programmes.

Some programmes are very popular and may operate an application closing date. Where there is a specific closing date for an Academic School, it will be stated in the School Admissions Policy and applicants are advised to check this prior to submitting an application.

If you intend to apply for funding, you should submit an application for a place at least one month before any specific scholarship deadline.

International students are particularly advised to submit applications as early as possible to ensure they have sufficient time to obtain a visa and prepare for arrival in the UK. Furthermore, an offer of a place is needed for many of the scholarships available to international students and closing dates can often be early in the year.

5.3 Academic documents

The following academic documents must be submitted with a taught postgraduate application. International applicants who require a Tier 4 student visa to study in the UK should be aware that the Home Office may request to see original copies of academic documents at the point of entry to the UK. Original or certified copies of the academic documents submitted with a taught postgraduate application must also be produced to the University at the point of registration.

- Higher Education and Professional Qualifications

If an applicant has already completed professional qualifications or previous degrees, whether at a UK or overseas university, a copy of the final degree certificate should be submitted with the application form.

Transcripts of an applicant's academic record are also required. These should provide full details of the degree class and grades obtained in each unit or module. If these documents are not in English they should be accompanied by a formal certified translation into English by the awarding institution, by University of Leeds accredited agent and offices or by an official translator, signed and dated including their credentials, company details and confirmation that the translation is accurate.

UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS
2017 Taught Postgraduate Admissions Policy

Applicants who are awaiting the outcome of an undergraduate or postgraduate programme should provide an interim transcript where possible.

- English Language Qualifications

Proof of English Language proficiency is required as part of the taught postgraduate application. Copies of the results of any formal English Language tests, as approved by the University (see Appendix A), which provide evidence that an applicant has met the minimum requirements for their chosen programme of study should be submitted with a Taught Postgraduate Application. Without this evidence, any offer made will be conditional on meeting the minimum English language requirements.

5.4 Referees

Full, clear and accurate contact details of two referees should be given to the University by the applicant at the point of application.

Academic Schools may request references from academic referees as a crucial element of the selection process. Where they are requested, please note that it is the applicant's responsibility to ensure references are sent to the University. Nominated referees should not be related to an applicant by blood or marriage and should be qualified to comment in detail on their capacity to cope with the academic demands of the programme for which they are applying. In exceptional circumstances, applicants who are applying with directly relevant work experience may nominate a person with knowledge of their employment activity to act as the second referee.

The acceptance of references is at the discretion of the relevant Academic School and any further questions relating to the format of references or nominating appropriate referees should be directed to the administrator for the specific programme of study applied to. Contact details can be found on our website at <http://www.leeds.ac.uk/faculties>.

5.5 Submission of work

Applicants should also enclose with their application any written work or evidence of creative/practical ability that may be specified as an admissions requirement for their chosen programme. Applicants should check with the relevant Academic School prior to making an application as to whether there are any such requirements.

5.6 Communication with applicants

The Student Education Service (SES) will formally communicate the outcome of an application directly with the applicant on behalf of the University of Leeds.

Academic Schools may also communicate with applicants during the admissions process, for example requesting further information where required.

Applicants who have any queries during the application process are encouraged to contact Admissions Enquiries. Contact details can be found in section 7. Once an offer has been received applicants should contact the Academic School to which they have applied.

5.7 Fraudulent statements and documents, plagiarism and omissions

By submitting an application to the University of Leeds applicants are confirming that the information given is true, complete and accurate. Applicants should not omit any requested or relevant information, make any misrepresentation (for example, through plagiarism) or give false information or documents at any point of the application process including after an offer is made. Should this occur the University reserves the right to dismiss a current or future application, withdraw an offer of a place and/or revoke registration.

The Academic School may use a system to process personal statements received in support of an application in order to identify statements that show similarity. The School will receive notification of any cases where a significant amount of potentially plagiarised material is identified. At the discretion of the School, applicants who are identified by the system may be given the opportunity to submit a new personal statement in support of their application.

5.8 Offers

5.8.1 Conditional offer

A conditional offer means that the University of Leeds will offer an applicant a place providing certain conditions are met. Usually conditions are based on the completion of outstanding qualifications or meeting the minimum English Language requirements. Other conditions may include criminal record and health checks. Conditional Offers may state the overall grades that must be achieved and/or specific grades in named modules. Each offer is specific to an applicant's individual qualifications and circumstances. Applicants must meet all conditions as set by the University prior to the start of the course.

5.8.2 Unconditional offer

An unconditional offer means that an applicant has met the academic and non-academic entry requirements and has been accepted onto their chosen programme of study at the University of Leeds.

5.8.3 Unsuccessful application

Applicants will receive an 'unsuccessful' response if the University has decided not to offer them a place on the programme. Applicants can be unsuccessful for many reasons. Applicants who are unsuccessful in gaining a place on their chosen programme and wish to find out the reason for this should, in the first instance, refer to the relevant section within the Schools Admissions Policy.

5.8.4 Withdrawn application

An application may be withdrawn either by the applicant, or by the University. If the University withdraws an application the reason will be communicated by the Academic School. The University reserves the right to withdraw an offer up to the point at which it has been accepted by an applicant. In cases where candidates are required to attend an interview as part of the application process applications may be withdrawn if a candidate fails to attend without making contact with the University, or if an applicant is unable to attend and an alternative date cannot reasonably be found.

5.8.5 Near miss offer

If an applicant doesn't meet the conditions of their offer, the Academic School may use their discretion and confirm a place as long as the result(s) achieved are acceptable.

The above does not prejudice the University's right to rely upon published disclaimers relating to delivery of programmes and services.

5.9 CAS issuance and tuition fee deposits

The University reserves the right to charge a tuition fee deposit. All self-financing students applying for postgraduate taught programmes at the University of Leeds are required to pay a tuition fee deposit if they require a Tier 4 General Student visa to study in the UK³. The tuition fee deposit is paid before the University issues a Confirmation of Acceptance to Study (CAS), which students need in order to apply for a visa. All necessary data for CAS issuance (e.g. passport details) must also be supplied.

For more details regarding how to pay your deposit and in what circumstances it may be refunded please see the following webpage: www.leeds.ac.uk/pgfeesguidance

5.10 Interviews

Applicants may be invited for interview. For some programmes an interview or audition forms part of the selection process to provide each candidate with the same opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge, understanding and aptitude for the programme of study. Applicants who are invited for interview may obtain further information about the interview process from the relevant Admissions Tutor/Officer. In some cases interviews are used as an opportunity to find out more about an applicant's qualifications, motivation and preparations for undertaking a taught postgraduate degree.

Interviews are also designed to ensure that an applicant understands the nature and demands of their chosen degree programme and provide an opportunity to visit the School, view facilities and meet members of academic and support staff, and current students.

Some applicants (for example, disabled applicants, applicants who are pregnant, etc.) will require adjustments at interview (for example, a sign-language interpreter or an adjustment to an audition process) to provide them with full and equal access to the process. Academic Schools are responsible for making reasonable adjustments where possible. The University's Disabled Students Assessment and Support team should be consulted for further advice or information (email disability@leeds.ac.uk).

5.11 Accepting an offer

Applicants who are successful in gaining a place for taught postgraduate study will be made either a conditional or an unconditional offer.

³ Special rules apply to School of Dentistry postgraduate applicants. Please see course listings on <http://www.leeds.ac.uk/coursefinder> for details.

UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS
2017 Taught Postgraduate Admissions Policy

Applicants are encouraged to respond to their offer online. Applicants who need assistance can contact tp_applications@leeds.ac.uk, including their student ID, full name, and course of study.

5.12 Feedback

Unsuccessful applicants may wish to request feedback on the reason for the outcome of their application. All requests for feedback must be made in writing or via email to the relevant Admissions Tutor/Officer (see Academic School policy for details) and signed by the applicant or from the email address listed on their application form. Generally where applicants request feedback on why they have not been admitted, feedback will be given.

5.13 Complaints

The University will consider all applications fairly and effectively in line with the procedures outlined in this document.

Applicants who wish to challenge a decision to reject their application should write to, or where agreed email the relevant Head of School to which they applied detailing the nature of their complaint. The complaint must typically be made within 14 days of the decision.

On receipt of a complaint, the Head of School (or nominee not involved in the admissions process) will review the decision to reject the applicant. Following this review the Head of School (or nominee) will write to the applicant giving grounds for their decision, normally within 14 days.

Applicants who have complained to the Head of School and remain dissatisfied may submit their complaint to the University's Complaints Officer within 14 days of the Head of School's response. This Officer (or their nominee) will not review academic or professional judgements that have been made but will review matters relating to process. The Officer or nominee will aim to provide a response – a reasoned judgement – within 14 days of receiving a complaint. This judgement will represent the University's final decision on the matter. The Officer will report the outcomes of any reviews they conduct to the Recruitment Committee.

Section 6 Applicants' Personal Data

The personal data of applicants is processed for the purposes of considering their admission in accordance with the University's Code of Practice on Data Protection <http://campus.leeds.ac.uk/dpa/code.htm>.

If applicants have any concerns with regard to the processing of their personal data they should contact Adrian Slater, one of the University's Data Protection Officers, at a.i.slater@adm.leeds.ac.uk

Section 7 Student Education Service Review

The University is reviewing its provision of support for students. The intention is to develop a model for the delivery of student services, based on 'one university' principles, to provide consistent, high quality support for all students across all aspects of the student journey.

UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS
2017 Taught Postgraduate Admissions Policy

The SES project team is currently consulting and developing on admissions processes which are designed to help meet the underlying principles of quality, equity, consistency and opportunity.

As a result of this consultation and development certain processes outlined in this document may be subject to change.
